

FKBD

Hello,

Finally there is an organisation within the KBB industry, dedicated to you, the designers, the sales people and the installers at the cutting edge of our business. The Federation of Kitchen and Bathroom Designers has been founded by people like you to benefit people like you.

We are the people at the cutting edge of the KBB industry, without us there would be no sales and no happy customers. If we were not there dealing every day with the customers, then there would not be a KBB industry. All the manufacturers, the distributors and the retail chains would not have a business if we did not exist. We are the people who listen to the needs of our customers every day and convert their dreams into reality.

Is it not time that our skills and experience was recognised?

We think it is, and we invite you to become part of the FKBD community.

Registration is totally free and there are no obligations. The web site has a private section which, once registered and approved, you can log into to access the technical and product information there. As we grow the available information will also increase. We aim to have the biggest single KBB product resource on the internet, along with design, sales and installation help and hints, written by industry experts and all freely available to you when you register. Click the “register for site” link at <http://fkbd.eu> today.

As our community grows and we become representative of a wide range of industry opinion, the accreditation we offer our people will increase in value, and as more and more potential customers visit our site daily, they will begin to see the advantages of entrusting a member of FKBD with their projects.

The public section of our site offers free advice and helpful hints to your potential customers on every aspect of kitchen, bedroom and bathroom design and purchase.

Is it not time that you could gain a professional qualification?

We think so too. Which is why we are striving to work with the other organisations in the industry, not just in Europe, but worldwide, to ensure that an FKBD accreditation will instantly identify you as an experienced and reliable individual who can be trusted to provide the highest standard of design, advice and service.

Register today, it is completely free and we value every individual's input.

<http://www.fkbd.eu/index.php/register-site>